

Britain First

The Voice of the British People 5p

EQUAL BEFORE THE LAW?

A Special Report by ROBIN MAY

IN A recent speech delivered in Manchester, Sir Robert Mark, the Metropolitan Police Commissioner, made the point that justice must not only be done to the defendant in a case but also to the victim – or his relatives if he does not live to tell the tale.

A perfect case in point is that of Vincent Anthony Gibson, 22, who was recently tried at the Old Bailey for the killing of Albert Spires outside the White Hart Public House in Willesden. Gibson ultimately pleaded guilty to manslaughter and was sentenced to two years imprisonment, suspended for two years; so he walked from the dock a free man.

Angry relatives and friends of aristocracy.

Spires, the victim, shouted “disgusting” and “he’s got away with killing someone”. In fact, the protesters were so indignant that the judge, Mr. Justice Thesiger, ordered the court to be cleared, using the words: “Throw them out”, according to the protesters.

Now it so happens that Gibson was a coloured man, born in the West Indies, whilst Spires was a white boy, born in this country. One wonders whether the Judge would have said “Throw them out” if the protesters had been coloured and, indeed, if he would have passed a suspended sentence if the

The whole case reeks of injustice – as always when the question of colour is involved.

On a Friday evening last January, Albert Spires and his girl-friend together with four of Albert’s friends and their respective girlfriends, all went to the White Hart for an evening’s entertainment. With their girlfriends with them, one would hardly expect that the boys went to the pub looking for trouble.

During the course of the evening, one of Albert’s friends went up to the bar for drinks and accidentally trod on Gibson’s foot. He square inch of his body was free of bruises).

The police and an ambulance were called. The police arrived but the ambulance did not. So, Albert’s friends picked him up, put him in their car and drove directly to Willesden General Hospital. Willesden Hospital has no casualty department open at that time of night. Albert’s friends panicked and broke the glass in a door in order to gain entry. It was no wonder they acted in this way since Albert was losing blood at a vast rate and they had been pursued to the hospital by a number of coloured men who were later seen clambering over a roof of the hospital trying to get in. (Albert’s friends said that they could only have been there for one reason and that was so that they could continue the fight).

Despite tremendous efforts to save Albert’s life, by doctors and nurses who worked through the night, he died at 11 a.m. next morning. His last words to his mother were: “See Carol (his girlfriend) gets home safe” and then “I don’t know how this happened. I didn’t do anything.”

Gibson who has two previous

Albert Spires pictured with two younger members of his family.

A letter of sympathy received by Albert Spires’s family.

METRICATION MENACE

by NEIL FARNELL (T.G.W.U.)

DIABOLICAL foreign changes are about to be forced on Britain’s weights and measures system to appease our new masters in Brussels. This of course is the alien method of metrication.

If British Nationalists had their way, the Metrication Board, set up by the Labour Government in 1968, would have been justice must not only be done to the defendant in a case but also to the victim — or his relatives if he does not live to tell the tale.

A perfect case in point is that of Vincent Anthony Gibson, 22, who was recently tried at the Old Bailey for the killing of Albert Spires outside the White Hart Public House in Willesden. Gibson ultimately pleaded guilty to manslaughter and was sentenced to two years imprisonment, suspended for two years; so he walked from the dock a free man.

Angry relatives and friends of aristocracy.

Spires, the victim, shouted "disgusting" and "he's got away with killing someone". In fact, the protesters were so indignant that the judge, Mr. Justice Thesiger, ordered the court to be cleared, using the words: "Throw them out", according to the protesters.

Now it so happens that Gibson was a coloured man, born in the West Indies, whilst Spires was a white boy, born in this country. One wonders whether the Judge would have said "Throw them out" if the protesters had been coloured and, indeed, if he would have passed a suspended sentence if the defendant had been white. Any practising lawyer will tell you that many judges fall over backwards to be as lenient as possible when they are dealing with coloured defendants — whether through love of a multi-racial society or fear of being accused of racialism.

At any rate, the white man in the street reacts naturally in the face of these situations and rightly expresses his feelings in no uncertain terms. It is not for him to take part in the social experiment of trying to mix pure white water with crude black oil. In this case, even the "do-gooder" judge was moved to say to Gibson: "You observe the evil that you do. Now you have stirred up considerable feeling against yourself and people of similar colour".

But was it only Gibson who "stirred up considerable feeling" or did the judge add fuel to the flames by his leniency? Conversely, when the victim's friends were moved to threaten reprisals, whilst still in court, the judge said: "Heavy sentences will be imposed by courts on people who take the law into their own hands". Evidently, this sentiment did not apply to Gibson.

It was then that Gibson arrived back at the White Hart with five other coloured men and a white girl. Gibson, taking a bottle from his pocket, made a direct frontal attack on Albert assisted by these five thugs he had brought with him. A general fight ensued ending with Albert lying in a pool of blood (medical evidence later showed that Albert's jugular vein

The whole case reeks of injustice — as always when the question of colour is involved.

On a Friday evening last January, Albert Spires and his girl-friend together with four of Albert's friends and their respective girlfriends, all went to the White Hart for an evening's entertainment. With their girlfriends with them, one would hardly expect that the boys went to the pub looking for trouble.

During the course of the evening, one of Albert's friends went up to the bar for drinks and accidentally trod on Gibson's foot. He apologised to Gibson but a fight developed in the course of which Gibson's eye and hand were cut. Albert intervened to keep the peace. Gibson left the premises, saying: "I'll get you".

The White Hart employs two 'bouncers' who then evicted Albert. It is understood that up to this point Albert had not participated in the fight with Gibson and it can only be assumed that the 'bouncers' picked on him because he had drawn attention to himself in his efforts to maintain the peace.

Anyway, Albert waited outside the pub and was joined by his friends except one who had gone to collect his car to take them all home. They stood in a group in front of the pub waiting for the car.

It was then that Gibson arrived back at the White Hart with five other coloured men and a white girl. Gibson, taking a bottle from his pocket, made a direct frontal attack on Albert assisted by these five thugs he had brought with him. A general fight ensued ending with Albert lying in a pool of blood (medical evidence later showed that Albert's jugular vein the ambulance did not. So, Albert's friends picked him up, put him in their car and drove directly to Willesden General Hospital. Willesden Hospital has no casualty department open at that time of night. Albert's friends panicked and broke the glass in a door in order to gain entry. It was no wonder they acted in this way since Albert was losing blood at a vast rate and they had been pursued to the hospital by a number of coloured men who were later seen clambering over a roof of the hospital trying to get in. (Albert's friends said that they could only have been there for one reason and that was so that they could continue the fight).

Despite tremendous efforts to save Albert's life, by doctors and nurses who worked through the night, he died at 11 a.m. next morning. His last words to his mother were: "See Carol (his girlfriend) gets home safe" and then "I don't know how this happened. I didn't do anything."

Gibson who has two previous convictions for violent assaults was a frequent visitor to the Apollo Club which is not far from the White Hart pub. It was to this Apollo Club that he had gone to recruit the five other coloured men before the attack on Albert Spires. Indeed, it was shown that the bottle that inflicted the fatal wound had come from there.

The West Indian immigrants who use the Apollo Club are reported to boast. "When whitey goes to bed the night people take over". This club is notorious for being the local H.Q. of the black power movement. The police have been called to disturbances at this black power club on numerous occasions. Many residents in the area would like to see it closed down but are afraid to speak openly for fear of reprisals.

The premises of the Apollo Club are owned by the local Labour Party. When this place was opened some two years ago — supported by a generous grant from Brent Council — the two local M.P.s, Laurie Pavitt for Brent South and Reg Freeson (alias Venitz) for Brent East, gave the venture their wholehearted blessing.

Albert Spires pictured with two younger members of his family.

help a little. There is no justice in this "infected" land anymore. Many people up here are with you.
Much sympathy
(a working man)

A letter of sympathy received by Albert Spires's family.

METRICATION MENACE

by NEIL FARNELL (T.G.W.U.)

DIABOLICAL foreign changes are about to be forced on Britain's weights and measures system to appease our new masters in Brussels. This of course is the alien method of metrication.

If British Nationalists had their way, the Metrication Board, set up by the Labour Government in 1968, would have been abolished long ago. But with over 60 employees, costing the taxpayer £300,000 a year, it proceeds on its stealthy and devious way.

The target date for complete metrication is 1975, although because of the muddle so far, this thankfully may not be met. There is no doubt that when it comes, metrication will be a repeat performance of the decimalisation fiddle (which was incidentally, to prepare us for the Common Market) and we shall all get stung in the stores again. In fact, as metrication is more complicated than decimalisation, unscrupulous stores will have a field day.

Of course, the Government will assure us there will be 'watchdog precautions' but we all know how useless they were last time. At present, we still buy petrol by the gallon, although our light ale comes in those sneaky half-litre bottles that look like pints but aren't. The Euro-fanatics are being very devious — pushing metrication bit by bit. Paint, pharmaceuticals and timber have gone metric already and although these are a great nuisance, it is when salt, flour and sugar and a host of others follow suit that the trouble for the pure mathematics and become ludicrous.

The mind also boggles at the thought of what ought to be the price of a metre of cloth for a man's suit or for 500 grammes of butter.

The system is so ridiculous and un-British that only a body of ministerial crackpots could seriously entertain the idea of imposing it on Britain.

So why is it going ahead?

WHO GAINS?

It is perhaps not surprising that one finds many pro-Marketters on the Metrication Board. It also has a membership heavily weighed in favour of those commercial interests which are going to make a killing out of the change-over. The Tory Government more or less committed Britain to metrication without (as usual) getting formal parliamentary approval, all because it was claimed it was good for exports. Yet even if we put subservience to the EEC and "exports" multi-racial society or fear of being accused of racialism.

At any rate, the white man in the street reacts naturally in the face of these situations and rightly expresses his feelings in no uncertain terms. It is not for him to take part in the social experiment of trying to mix pure white water with crude black oil. In this case, even the "do-gooder" judge was moved to say to Gibson: "You observe the evil that you do. Now you have stirred up considerable feeling against yourself and people of similar colour".

But was it only Gibson who "stirred up considerable feeling" or did the judge add fuel to the flames by his leniency? Conversely, when the victim's friends were moved to threaten reprisals, whilst still in court, the judge said: "Heavy sentences will be imposed by courts on people who take the law into their own hands". Evidently, this sentiment did not apply to Gibson. a member of the new (coloured)

The White Hart employs two 'bouncers' who then evicted Albert. It is understood that up to this point Albert had not participated in the fight with Gibson and it can only be assumed that the 'bouncers' picked on him because he had drawn attention to himself in his efforts to maintain the peace.

Anyway, Albert waited outside the pub and was joined by his friends except one who had gone to collect his car to take them all home. They stood in a group in front of the pub waiting for the car.

It was then that Gibson arrived back at the White Hart with five other coloured men and a white girl. Gibson, taking a bottle from his pocket, made a direct frontal attack on Albert assisted by these five thugs he had brought with him. A general fight ensued ending with Albert lying in a pool of blood (medical evidence later showed that Albert's jugular vein had been severed and hardly a saying "I got you" to the five other coloured men before the attack on Albert Spires. Indeed, it was shown that the bottle that inflicted the fatal wound had come from there.

The West Indian immigrants who use the Apollo Club are reported to boast. "When whitey goes to bed the night people take over". This club is notorious for being the local H.Q. of the black power movement. The police have been called to disturbances at this black power club on numerous occasions. Many residents in the area would like to see it closed down but are afraid to speak openly for fear of reprisals.

The premises of the Apollo Club are owned by the local Labour Party. When this place was opened some two years ago - supported by a generous grant from Brent Council - the two local M.P.s, Laurie Pavitt for Brent South and Reg Freeson (alias Venitz) for Brent East, gave the venture their wholehearted blessing.

● Our legal correspondent writes: It is a well-known ploy for persons to plead guilty to a lesser offence in order (a) to save the time of the court and thus receive a lesser sentence than they deserve and (b) to prevent all the facts of the case (especially the whole background) from being made public.

VIDENE LTD.

Building and Civil Engineers Extensions, conversions and all types of carpentry work.
Tel. (01) 657 5667

WANTED

NF member collects old British nationalist papers and books.
Gifts, exchanges or price lists to:
Paul Jarvis, c/o 50 Pawsons Road, Croydon, Surrey.

because of the muddle so far, this thankfully may not be met. There is no doubt that when it comes, metrication will be a repeat performance of the decimalisation fiddle (which was incidentally, to prepare us for the Common Market) and we shall all get stung in the stores again. In fact, as metrication is more complicated than decimalisation, unscrupulous stores will have a field day.

Of course, the Government will assure us there will be 'watchdog precautions' but we all know how useless they were last time. At present, we still buy petrol by the gallon, although our light ale comes in those sneaky half-litre bottles that look like pints but aren't. The Euro-fanatics are being very devious - pushing metrication bit by bit. Paint, pharmaceuticals and timber have gone metric already and although these are a great nuisance, it is when salt, flour and sugar and a host of others follow suit, that the trouble for the shopper will really begin.

LUDICROUS SYSTEM

Confusion will arise as to what is the proper price to charge, and the public could be taken for an expensive ride. How many housewives will know how much they should pay for, say, tea if it comes in 100 or 125 gramme packets? Some bright schoolkids may be able to deal with the price of 150 grammes of sweets, but very few pensioners will. In other spheres metrication will be almost a joke. If the organisers of Miss World competitions stop talking about vital statistics in terms of 36-24-35 and go metric at 914-610-889, and give her weight in kilogrammes and her age in caesium megaseconds, the contest will be raised into the realm of thought of what ought to be the price of a metre of cloth for a man's suit or for 500 grammes of butter.

The system is so ridiculous and un-British that only a body of ministerial crackpots could seriously entertain the idea of imposing it on Britain.

So why is it going ahead?

WHO GAINS?

It is perhaps not surprising that one finds many pro-Marketters on the Metrication Board. It also has a membership heavily weighed in favour of those commercial interests which are going to make a killing out of the change-over. The Tory Government more or less committed Britain to metrication without (as usual) getting formal parliamentary approval, all because it was claimed it was good for exports. Yet even if we put subservience to the EEC and "exports" before anything else, the metric system is not as flexible nor as convenient as our own. The French still use the dozen as a measure of quantity for precisely this reason.

Our own system of miles, yards, feet and inches allows us to express linear measurements in more easily remembered figures than does the metric method. For instance, the metric measurement for Ben Nevis is 1344m high; London to Cardiff is 246km, to Manchester 296km, to Belfast 589km and to Glasgow 631km. Will the majority of British people enjoy expressing things in these foreign terms? Not on your life!

It is unfortunately doubtful if anything can be done to prevent metrication being imposed after 1975, but it is equally doubtful, in the future Nationalist Britain, whether anything can be done to prevent metrication being scrapped.

The Appollo Club. Damage to photograph caused when Britain First photographer was attacked by thug who came out from doorway of building, and broke his camera. Contributions to replace it will be gratefully received and should be sent c/o Britain First.

ON JUNE 15 between one and two thousand members and supporters of the National Front took part in a perfectly lawful and peaceful parade through London to protest against the Labour Government's amnesty for illegal immigrants. The activity was opposed by an armed rabble of Communist students who started two serious riots with the police in attempts, first to attack the hall where the National Front were to hold a meeting, and, secondly, to attack the approaching National Front column itself. Thirty-nine police officers were injured and over fifty Communists arrested. The National Front was not involved.

The National Front march and meeting in Conway Hall, Red Lion Square, had been planned several weeks before. Coming after the National Front's recent electoral success and growing penetration into schools and colleges, Britain's Communist organizations planned a 'counter-demonstration' on the same day and in the same place under the banner of a front body - Liberation.

The events of the 15th. were preceded by a week of mounting hysteria in Communist newspapers such as Morning Star, Red Weekly and Socialist Worker.

1 The Red counter march begins on the Thames Embankment and proceeds to Red Lion Square. The demonstrators are carrying placards and flags mounted on heavy metal and wooden poles, many of which have been sharpened to a point.

Some commentators were later to suggest that it was National Front members who carried swastikas. In fact it was the Reds who were falsely attempting to stigmatize the Front as a Nazi organization.

2 As the Communists enter Red Lion Square they are supposed to turn right for an open air meeting. On a prearranged signal, however, one group turns left and charges the police cordon guarding Conway Hall. A student is injured in the fracas and is later to die. His name is Kevan Gately and he comes from an Irish Republican background.

3 An injured policeman is carried from the scene by his colleagues.

5 The National Front drum corps.

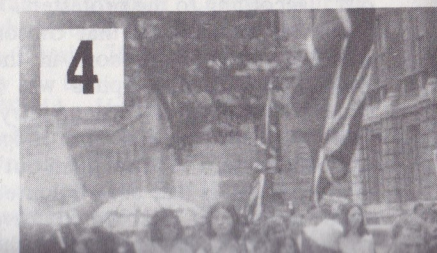

6 The Communists advance towards the approaching National Front column, but halt as the National Front members spread out across the road to confront them with flags waving and drums beating. Some smoke bombs are thrown by the Reds, but fall short.

7 A police cordon gradually forms between the two sides. The National Front members stand peacefully during the confrontation. The policemen directly in front of the NF are relaxed, folding their arms - not linking them, and are facing across the road towards the Communists.

8 Police push back the Reds in order to keep them well clear of the National Front's path. One elderly NF member is hit on the head by a rock thrown by a Communist. This is the nearest the National Front ever comes to being "involved" in the clashes.

The National Front members proceed to Conway Hall for a

THE BATTLE OF RED LION SQUA

Lion Square. The demonstrators are carrying placards and flags mounted on heavy metal and wooden poles, many of which have been sharpened to a point.

Some commentators were later to suggest that it was National Front members who carried swastikas. In fact it was the Reds who were falsely attempting to stigmatize the Front as a Nazi organization.

2 As the Communists enter Red Lion Square they are supposed to turn right for an open air meeting. On a prearranged signal, however, one group turns left and charges the police cordon guarding Conway Hall. A student is injured in the fracas and is later to die. His name is Kevan Gately and he comes from an Irish Republican background.

3 An injured policeman is carried from the scene by his colleagues.

4 National Front members on the march. These are the people the Communists want to "smash". Various newspapers and M.P.s were to refer to "black shirts". Blackshirts were, in fact, very much less numerous than shirts of any other colour. It might just as well have been pointed out that most of the men in the National Front column were wearing socks, which is more than could be said for the opposition.

6 The Communists advance towards the approaching National Front column, but halt as the National Front members spread out across the road to confront them with flags waving and drums beating. Some smoke bombs are thrown by the Reds, but fall short.

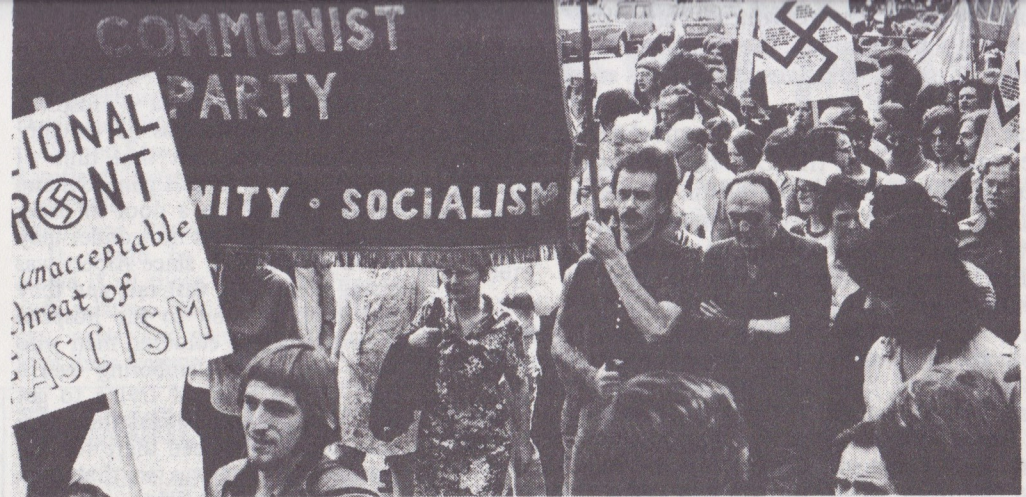

7 A police cordon gradually forms between the two sides. The National Front members stand peacefully during the confrontation. The policemen directly in front of the NF are relaxed, folding their arms — not linking them, and are facing across the road towards the Communists.

8 Police push back the Reds in order to keep them well clear of the National Front's path. One elderly NF member is hit on the head by a rock thrown by a Communist. This is the nearest the National Front ever comes to being "involved" in the clashes.

The National Front members proceed to Conway Hall for a highly successful meeting. The Left has failed in its attempt to stop the N.F.

In the basement level forecourt of some nearby premises police uncover a Communist arsenal of sharpened bamboo stakes, metal bars and wooden clubs with nails sticking out of them.

9 Tariq Ali at the protest march over the death of Kevin Gately, the Left's mini-Horst Wessel. Tariq's friends are wearing political uniforms.

M.P.s were referred to "black shirts". Blackshirts were, in fact, very much less numerous than shirts of any other colour. It might just as well have been pointed out that most of the men in the National Front column were wearing socks, which is more than could be said for the opposition.

sharpened bamboo stakes, metal bars and wooden clubs with nails sticking out of them.

9 Tariq Ali at the protest march over the death of Kevin Gately, the Left's mini-Horst Wessel. Tariq's friends are wearing political uniforms.

THE UGLY FACE OF RED FASCISM

LIBERATION was first formed in 1954 as the Movement for Colonial Freedom and acts as a front for the Communist Party and crypto-Communists in the Labour Party. Its general secretary is Steve Hart, a Communist and son of Mrs. Judith Hart MP — the Minister of Overseas Development in the present Labour Government. Of Liberation's twelve man council seven others are members of the orthodox Communist Party, Moscow's main mouthpiece in Britain.

Other organizations behind Liberation include Tariq Ali's International Marxist Group (see photo to right), the International Socialists and the Communist Party of England (Marxist-Leninist).

The International Socialists are led by Tony Cliff (alias Ygael Gluckstein under which name he appears in the London telephone directory), and Paul Foot — offspring of the colonial aristocracy his father being Lord Caradon. Paul Foot is a writer for Private Eye which attempts to be funny and is Editor of the I.S. newspaper, Socialist Worker, which attempts to be serious, Private Eye is a court jester for the Establishment — its writers being cardboard revolutionaries licensed to rebel by attacking individuals but not advocating any root change in the political system. Socialist Worker is similarly negative.

The most lunatic of the groups behind Liberation is undoubtedly the Communist Party of England (Marxist-Leninist). Its newspaper, Workers' Daily, had this to say about the riot:

"As the march entered Red Lion Square, the demonstrators launched a valiant surge in the direction of the hall in order to take it over and prevent the (so-called) Hitlerite National Front from holding the meeting."

It went on to relate:

"One (so-called) fascist National Fronter arrogantly ran forward and started dancing up and down shouting abuse. A worker representative of the Communist Party of England (Marxist-Leninist) ran towards him with a red flag on a solid stick and smashed him over the head with it."

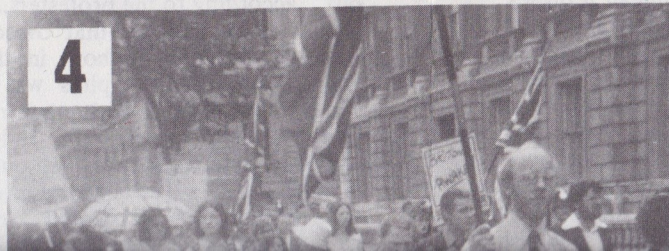

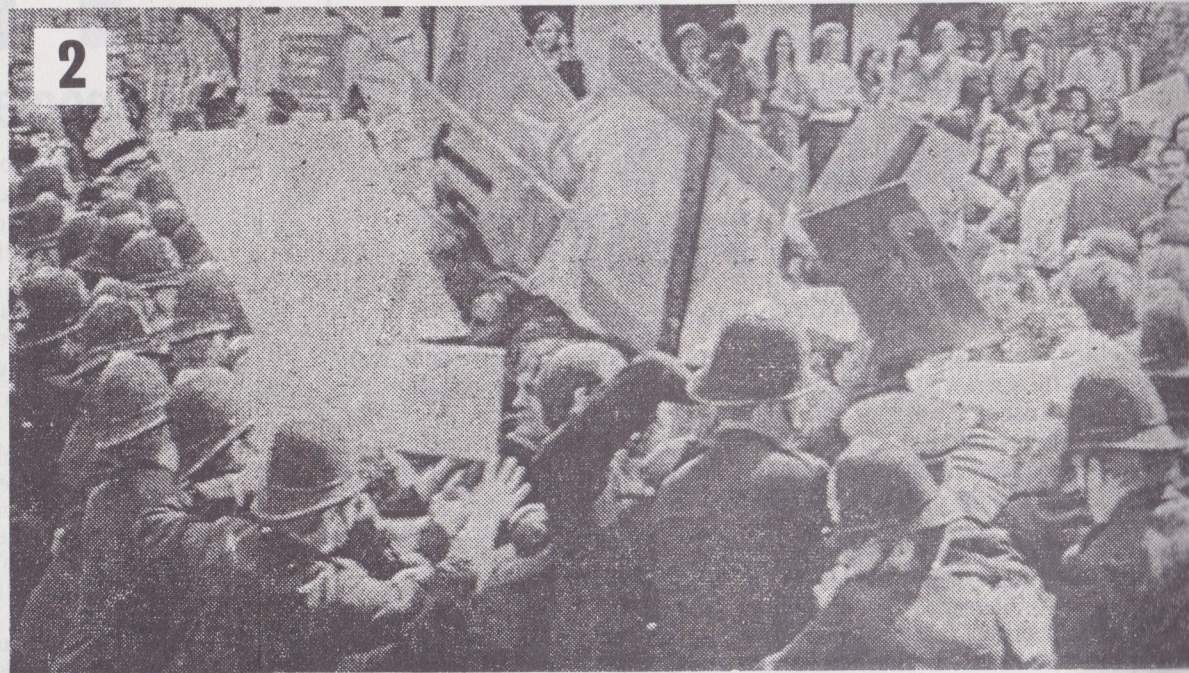

The Communist Groups behind Liberation are so unpopular with the general public that they have very little political potential in their own right. Their commitment to internationalism and multi-racialism, however, makes them a ready in the hands of the economic interests that want to stop British growing nationalist movement the National Front.

It matters little that these are 'anti-capitalist' so long as only effective role is a negative one.

Funds are channelled into Left through certain organizations which share an ethnic link members of the Establishment an ideological link with Marxism Socialism. Red Mole, the paper of the International Marxist Group now known as Red Worker

THE BATTLE OF RED LION SQUARE

OF RED FASCISM

ensed to rebel by individuals but not y root change in the
m. Socialist Worker is tive.

lunatic of the groups
ation is undoubtedly ist Party of England (ist). Its newspaper, y, had this to say about arch entered Red Lion emonstrators launched ge in the direction of order to take it over he (so-called) Hitlerite nt from holding the

meeting."

It went on to relate:

"One (so-called) fascist National Fronter arrogantly ran forward and started dancing up and down shouting abuse. A worker representative of the Communist Party of England (Marxist-Leninist) ran towards him with a red flag on a solid stick and smashed him over the head with it."

The Communist Groups behind Liberation are so unpopular with the general public that they have very little political potential in their own right. Their commitment to internationalism and multi-racialism, however, makes them a ready tool in the hands of the economic interests that want to stop Britain's growing nationalist movement —

the National Front.

It matters little that these groups are 'anti-capitalist' so long as their only effective role is a purely negative one.

Funds are channelled into the Left through certain organizations which share an ethnic link with members of the Establishment and an ideological link with Marxian Socialism. Red Mole, the paper of the International Marxist Group
now known as Red Weekly, complained in its edition of October 2nd, 1972 that a certain body "refused to underwrite" a demonstration as if underwriting by such organizations was to be expected.

Right: Tariq Ali of the International Marxist Group gives moral support to the IRA. Here he is shown giving physical support at the funeral of Michael Gaughan. The blacked out face is of Maurice Foley, son of the wellknown Labour politician and former Minister, Maurice Foley Snr.

RE

HOW THE RED PRESS SAW IT

Cartoon in
The New Statesman

6

5

M y tool nomic tain's nt —

groups their purely complained in its edition of October 2nd, 1972 that a certain body "refused to underwrite" a demonstration as if underwriting by such organizations was to be expected.

o the ations with t and arxian per of Group
weekly,

Right: Tariq Ali of the International Marxist Group gives moral support to the IRA. Here he is shown giving physical support at the funeral of Michael Gaughan. The blacked out face is of Maurice Foley, son of the wellknown Labour politician and former Minister, Maurice Foley Snr.

MORE PROOF OF LEPROSY HERE

THE New Statesman described an article in Britain First on leprosy in Britain as "thoroughly mendacious". The following report appeared in the Guardian, thus confirming the reality of immigrant lepers:

Leper allowed to enter Britain

A Kenyan businessman suffering from one of the most infectious forms of leprosy was admitted to Britain because he had a British passport. Ten months later the disease killed him.

Six children who had lived in the same house as Mr Deveran Kanani are now being kept under observation by tropical disease specialists, an inquest at Preston heard yesterday.

By our Correspondent

Mr Howard McCann, the coroner, recorded a verdict of death from natural causes on Mr Kanani, aged 58, of Meadow Court, Preston, who died on December 17 last year. Mr McCann said there had been concern at Preston that Mr Kanani should have been admitted while suffering from a highly infectious disease.

"Under the circumstances, the Government apparently felt that they had no alternative but to accept him into this country. There was nothing the Home Office could have done about refusing him entry even if they had wanted to," Mr McCann said.

Dr Patrick Lynch, pathologist, said that death had been caused by lepromatous leprosy, one of the most infectious forms of the disease.

God save us all!

CHARLES WINDSOR, the well known Prince of Wales, is expected to help produce a series of television films on immigration and race relations. The films are being made by the Royal Anthropological Institute of which Charles is patron.

Prince Charles — currently serving on HMS Jupiter — said in a recent interview that the more people who understood the background of immigrants coming to Britain, the less apprehensive they would be about them.

Charles Windsor is of German/Dutch/French/Italian/etc. extraction.

Whither Portugal?

THE REAL political direction of the ruling military junta in Portugal was further evidenced by the visit to Brussels of Dr. Mario Soares — the Portuguese Socialist leader. The

National Front in South Africa

THE first Overseas Group of the N.F. has been formed in South Africa.

This is an area where there is tremendous potential for N.F. support.

Though the Group will not be able to directly take part in U.K. elections, there are many ways in which it can, and in which it intends to support the N.F. and further its cause.

Will all those interested please contact:—

Michael Childs,
23 Byzantine Heights,
54 Buckingham Avenue,
Craighall Park,
Johannesburg.
David Habbitts,
80 Simon Street,
Kynfield, Benoni
Transvaal
Tel. Home. Benoni 849 1524.

It would be especially appreciated if all those who have friends and relatives in Southern Africa can write and persuade them to lend their support.

Golliwogs become non-persons

A twenty-six film series for ITV based on Enid Blyton's Noddy stories will be appearing this Autumn — but minus golliwogs. The firm making the films described Enid Blyton's portrayals of Noddy's golliwog enemies as "too obviously racialistic".

By declaring golliwogs to be

The profit motive

MR. JOHN SAINSBURY, head of the giant Sainsbury supermarket chain, has been attacking the idea of state interference in monopoly capitalism. Speaking at the Sainsbury group's annual general meeting he was complaining that the complex would find it exceptionally difficult to achieve greater profits this year.

Sainsbury's were earlier in the

Britain First

No.22

July-August 1974

Editor: Richard Lawson

Editorial Office: 50 Pawns Road, Croydon, Surrey, CRO 2QF.

Britain First supports the views of the National Front editorially, but is printed, published and distributed independently of the National Front by Britain First Press.

The views expressed in Britain First are the views of the Editor and the named contributors and should not necessarily be taken to be the official views of the National Front.

The appearance of any advertisement in Britain First is not necessarily indicative that the Editor has any knowledge of, interest in or support for the product, service, organisation or function advertised.

Many aspects of immigration are, to say the least, distasteful to the native British population. Our anger, however, should not be directed towards immigrants but to the politicians who allowed or encouraged the problem. Race hatred is counter-productive and no sympathy can be extended to those who incite it.

National Front Students' Association

N.F. STUDENTS IN AMNESTY PROTEST

by DAVE McCALDEN

NATIONAL FRONT students from all over the country took part in the large London demonstration to protest against the government's illegal immigrants betrayal. Several NFSA members carried placards for their particular college or university. For a report of the activity and subsequent events, see the inside pages of this Britain First.

Despite assertions in the press that they would join the anti-NF demo, the National Union of Students remained in the safety of University College where they debated their future tactics on "racists and fascists". However, the much publicised "student backlash" against the NUS's ban on free speech fizzled out into a pathetic discussion on the best methods of preventing freedom of speech. In the end, the emergency conference confirmed its opposition to free speech, but rejected 'individual acts of aggression because they are students at several universities, who went along to collect their grant cheques found that the university authorities had allowed stalls to be set up next to the tables, inviting students to sign away part of their grant to sponsor 'Chilean refugees' who, would like to come and study in Britain. The campaign, organised by the suspiciously-sounding "World University Service" is deliberately aimed at misleading British students into believing that the refugees are Chilean and ordinary students. In fact, under the Allende junta, over 10,000

CHARLES WINDSOR, the well known Prince of Wales, is expected to help produce a series of television films on immigration and race relations. The films are being made by the Royal Anthropological Institute of which Charles is patron.

Prince Charles — currently serving on HMS Jupiter — said in a recent interview that the more people who understood the background of immigrants coming to Britain, the less apprehensive they would be about them.

Charles Windsor is of German/Dutch/French/Italian/etc. extraction.

Whither Portugal?

THE REAL political direction of the ruling military junta in Portugal was further evidenced by the visit to Brussels of Dr. Mario Soares — the Portuguese Socialist leader. The purpose of his visit was to ask the Common Market Commission for trade and aid support.

While Portugal's overseas Empire falls under the control of dollar imperialism and its African Communist lackies, Portugal itself seems destined to be railroaded into another complex of dollar imperialism — the European Conman's Market.

THE first Overseas Group of the N.F. has been formed in South Africa.

This is an area where there is tremendous potential for N.F. support.

Though the Group will not be able to directly take part in U.K. elections, there are many ways in which it can, and in which it intends to support the N.F. and further its cause.

Will all those interested please contact:—

Michael Childs,
23 Byzantine Heights,
54 Buckingham Avenue,
Craighall Park,
Johannesburg.
David Habbitts,
80 Simon Street,
Kynfield, Benoni
Transvaal
Tel. Home. Benoni 849 1524.

It would be especially appreciated if all those who have friends and relatives in Southern Africa can write and persuade them to lend their support.

Golliwogs become non-persons

A twenty-six film series for ITV based on Enid Blyton's Noddy stories will be appearing this Autumn — but minus golliwogs. The firm making the films described Enid Blyton's portrayals of Noddy's golliwog enemies as "too obviously racialistic".

By declaring golliwogs to be non-persons and writing them out of the script a great opportunity has been lost for inculcating correct multi-racial attitudes amongst toddlers. Why not have Noddy and Big Ears arraigned before a Toy-town Race Relations Board and forced to undergo reconciliation procedure?

Would you like your gnome to marry a golliwog?

The profit motive

MR. JOHN SAINSBURY, head of the giant Sainsbury supermarket chain, has been attacking the idea of state interference in monopoly capitalism. Speaking at the Sainsbury group's annual general meeting he was complaining that the complex would find it exceptionally difficult to achieve greater profits this year.

Sainsbury's were earlier in the news for devising a scheme to distribute profits in the form of shares instead of dividends in order to avoid taxation for Sainsbury family shareholders. With acts like this John Sainsbury can hardly complain if the profit motive is getting a dirty name.

John Sainsbury's millionaire father is a Socialist peer.

READ

Spearhead

A 20 page monthly published in support of the National Front. Please enclose 10p in stamps for a sample copy from: 50 Pawsons Road, Croydon, Surrey, CRO 2QF.

BOOKS WANTED

Private collector requires second-hand political books of all persuasions. Offers to: Richard Lawson, c/o 50 Pawsons Road, Croydon, Surrey, CRO 2QF.

N.F. STUDENTS IN AMNESTY PROTEST

by DAVE McCALDEN

NATIONAL FRONT students from all over the country took part in the large London demonstration to protest against the government's illegal immigrants betrayal. Several NFSA members carried placards for their particular college or university. For a report of the activity and subsequent events, see the inside pages of this Britain First.

Despite assertions in the press that they would join the anti-NF demo, the National Union of Students remained in the safety of University College where they debated their future tactics on "racists and fascists". However, the much publicised "student backlash" against the NUS's ban on free speech fizzled out into a pathetic discussion on the best methods of preventing freedom of speech. In the end, the emergency conference confirmed its opposition to free speech, but rejected 'individual acts of aggression because they are counter-productive and politically bankrupt'. Instead, students unions will now adopt a policy of mass acts of aggression, which are presumably not politically bankrupt. However, the entire debate was of supreme irrelevancy, where the NFSA is concerned, for only a week after the motion was passed, NFSA National Secretary Dave McCalden spoke at a students' union debate at Goldsmiths' College in South London and managed to thwart a Leftist motion to donate union money to the fund set up to pay the fines of the Communist thugs who were arrested at the Red Lion Square riot. NF students and NF student societies will continue to put their point of view and hold college meetings no matter who doesn't like it or who tries to stop them.

students at several universities, who went along to collect their grant cheques found that the university authorities had allowed stalls to be set up next to the tables, inviting students to sign away part of their grant to sponsor 'Chilean refugees' who, would like to come and study in Britain. The campaign, organised by the suspiciously-sounding "World University Service" is deliberately aimed at misleading British students into believing that the refugees are Chilean and ordinary students. In fact, under the Allende junta, over 10,000 'students' poured into Chile from other countries all over South America. Many of these were encouraged to take part in street riots against 'backward workers', whilst ostensibly studying at the Department of Pedagogy(?) of Santiago University. Over £15,000 has now been contributed from universities all over the country, including £5000 from official university funds. Various big-business foundations have also found it in their interests to finance the campaign; the Ford Foundation has given £7000. Christian Aid, which purports to be an agency for the relief of hunger and poverty, has given £10,000 to sponsor-a-Commie. Doubtless the 20 million Christians who were exterminated behind the Iron Curtain by Communism would be in full approval.

WHITE PARENTS FIGHT BACK

Angry parents at the Strand Grammar School, in South Brixton, have formed a Parents Action Group to fight the ILEA's proposed

NCCL DOUBLETHINK

Despite the posturings of the National Council for Civil Liberties as the 'voice of moderation' throughout the free speech controversy, they would do well to consider

National Front puts Britain FIRST

To: National Front, 50 Pawsons Road, Croydon, Surrey, CRO 2QF.

I wish to become *a Full Member of the National Front at £2 per year.
*an Associate Member of the National Front at £1 per year.
*Delete as necessary

and enclose my cheque/P.O. for £ p.
or:—

I enclose 10p for further information about the National Front.

Name

Address

gonal imperialism and its African Communist lackies, Portugal itself seems destined to be railroaded into another complex of dollar imperialism — the European Conman's Market.

appears arraigned before a Toy-town Race Relations Board and forced to undergo reconciliation procedure?

Would you like your gnome to marry a golliwog?

National Front puts Britain FIRST

To: National Front, 50 Pawsons Road, Croydon, Surrey, CRO 2QF.

I wish to become *a Full Member of the National Front at £2 per year.
 *an Associate Member of the National Front at £1 per year.
 *Delete as necessary

and enclose my cheque/P.O. for £ p.

or:—

I enclose 10p for further information about the National Front.

Name

Address

BUY BRITAIN FIRST

Britain First retails at 5p from your local seller. It can only be bought from Britain First Press in the multiples and at the prices listed below.

Subscriptions cannot be accepted, though libraries and similar institutions may be supplied with complimentary copies at our discretion.

50 copies	£1.50	plus 30p postage	(3p each)
100 copies	£3.00	plus 36p postage	(3p each)
200 copies	£5.00	plus 48p postage	(2½p each)
300 copies	£7.50	plus 58p postage	(2½p each)
400 copies	£8.00	plus 73p postage	(2p each)
500 copies	£10.00	plus £1.09 postage	(2p each)
1000 copies	£15.00	plus £1.94 postage	(1½p each)

Please make out cheques and postal orders to Britain First, 50 Pawsons Road, Croydon, Surrey.

Please send me copies of Britain First for which I enclose plus for postage.

Name

Address

READ

Spearhead

A 20 page monthly published in support of the National Front. Please enclose 10p in stamps for a sample copy from: 50 Pawsons Road, Croydon, Surrey, CRO 2QF.

BOOKS WANTED

Private collector requires second-hand political books of all persuasions. Offers to: Richard Lawson, c/o 50 Pawsons Road, Croydon, Surrey, CRO 2QF.

BRITAIN FIRST APPEAL FUND

We would like you to buy BRITAIN FIRST and resell it. If, however, you cannot do this but would nevertheless like to help us promote it, then why not send us a donation?

For every £1 received we can print another 50 copies.

Contributions should be addressed to Britain First, 50 Pawsons Road, Croydon, Surrey.

I enclose as a donation to the Britain First Appeal Fund.

Name

Address

.....

John Sainsbury's millionaire father is a Socialist peer.

John Sainsbury's millionaire father is a Socialist peer.

rupt. The entire debate was of supreme irrelevancy, where the NFSA is concerned, for only a week after the motion was passed, NFSA National Secretary Dave McCalden spoke at a students' union debate at Goldsmiths' College in South London and managed to thwart a Leftist motion to donate union money to the fund set up to pay the fines of the Communist thugs who were arrested at the Red Lion Square riot. NF students and NF student societies will continue to put their point of view and hold college meetings no matter who doesn't like it or who tries to stop them.

NCCL DOUBLETHINK

Despite the posturings of the National Council for Civil Liberties as the 'voice of moderation' throughout the free speech controversy, they would do well to ensure that their own house is in order before criticising the NUS 'ban'. For Mr. Anthony Arblaster, an executive council member of the NCCL-offshoot, the "Council for Academic Freedom and Democracy" has recently written a book in the Marxist-orientated Penguin Education Special series advocating more militant action by students. Mr. Arblaster, a Labour candidate in the 1964 General Election, says that student militants have generally been restrained and peaceful in response to 'provocation from university authorities'. So far, students have usually disrupted only visiting speakers, but he suggests that they should now start heckling their own lecturers. Readers who would like to take up Mr. Arblaster's suggestion, or who feel that disruption of lectures is not entirely in keeping with notions of "Academic Freedom" are advised to apply to the Politics Department of Sheffield University, where Mr. Arblaster is a lecturer.

UNIVERSITY ALTRUISM

At the beginning of term, whilst ostensibly studying at the Department of Pedagogy(?) of Santiago University. Over £15,000 has now been contributed from universities all over the country, including £5000 from official university funds. Various big-business foundations have also found it in their interests to finance the campaign; the Ford Foundation has given £7000. Christian Aid, which purports to be an agency for the relief of hunger and poverty, has given £10,000 to sponsor-a-Commie. Doubtless the 20 million Christians who were exterminated behind the Iron Curtain by Communism would be in full approval.

WHITE PARENTS FIGHT BACK

Angry parents at the Strand Grammar School, in South Brixton, have formed a Parents Action Group to fight the ILEA'S proposed closure of the school. This is the third attempt by the Labour-controlled ILEA to shut down the school, which would mean that the predominantly White children from Strand would be dispersed to several multi-racial comprehensives nearby. Discipline in the schools is not all it could be, it seems. The Strand parents claim that two mothers, one of them pregnant, were mugged at Kingsdale School in broad daylight by young tearaways. At the notorious Tulse Hill school, next door to Strand, one month's window repairs cost £600, the parents allege. Both Tulse Hill and William Penn schools run "Black Studies" courses, which indoctrinate Blacks with Communist, hate-Whitey propaganda. Tulse Hill was recently the centre for a campaign to "Free the Three" — the three Black youths, one a Tulse Hill student, who were arrested after the infamous Brockwell Park race riot. Conditions at Tulse Hill have now deteriorated to such an extent that the school still cannot find a headmaster, four months after the previous head and deputy resigned.